

Profilo del socio: Nicoletta Caputo

Nicoletta Caputo è Dottore di Ricerca in Anglistica. Nel 1998-2000 è borsista post-dottorato presso l’Università di Firenze e nel 2002 vince una Fellowship presso la “Folger Shakespeare Library” di Washington D.C. Attualmente è Assegnista di Ricerca di Letteratura inglese presso la Facoltà di Lettere e Filosofia di Arezzo (Università di Siena), dove insegna anche Letteratura inglese in qualità di Professore a Contratto. Ha pubblicato un volume sul dramma Tudor (Playing with Power: gli interludi Tudor e i percorsi della Riforma, 1998) e articoli sul teatro del Cinquecento e sull’“afterlife” di “King Richard III”, tra i quali: “A ‘Deformed’ Christianity: Ethical Transubstantiation in English Reformation Plays” (in Burnham e Giaccherini, eds. The Poetics of Transubstantiation: From Theology to Metaphor, 2005); “‘Which play was of a king how he should rule his realm’: Tudor Interludes Advising the Ruler” (HJEAS. Hungarian Journal of English and American Studies 2005); “‘I can add colours to the chameleon’: King Richard III’s Metamorphic History” (in Dente, Ferzoco, Gill e Spunta, eds. Proteus. The Language of Metamorphosis, 2005); “Entertainers ‘on the Vagabond Fringe’: Jugglers in Tudor and Stuart England” (in Serpieri e Pugliatti, eds. English Renaissance Scenes: From Canon to Margins, 2008); “The Defence of Religious Orthodoxy in John Heywood’s The Pardoner and the Frere” (The Yearbook of English Studies 2008) e “Performing the Passions: David Garrick and Edmund Kean in King Richard The Third” (Assaph. Studies in the Theatre 2009). E’, inoltre, autrice dei capitoli “I predecessori di Shakespeare” e “La prosa del ‘500’ nel Manuale di letteratura e cultura inglese curato da Keir Elam e Lilla Maria Crisafulli (B.U.P. 2009).

Per l’elenco completo delle pubblicazioni si rimanda alla pagina web
<http://online.unisi.it/anagrafe-ricerca/>

Nicoletta Caputo holds a PhD in English Studies. In 1998 she was awarded a University of Florence Post-doctoral Research Fellowship and in 2002 she won a Research Fellowship at the Folger Shakespeare Library (Washington DC). She now works at the University of Siena (Arezzo) as Research Fellow and teaches English Literature there. She has published a volume on Tudor drama (Playing with Power: gli interludi Tudor e i percorsi della Riforma, 1998) and articles on early modern theatre and on the “afterlife” of “King Richard III”, which include: “A ‘Deformed’ Christianity: Ethical Transubstantiation in English Reformation Plays” (in Burnham and Giaccherini, eds. The Poetics of Transubstantiation: From Theology to Metaphor, 2005); “‘Which play was of a king how he should rule his realm’: Tudor Interludes Advising the Ruler” (HJEAS. Hungarian Journal of English and American Studies 2005); “‘I can add colours to the chameleon’: King Richard III’s Metamorphic History” (in Dente, Ferzoco, Gill and Spunta, eds. Proteus. The Language of Metamorphosis, 2005); “Entertainers ‘on the Vagabond Fringe’: Jugglers in Tudor and Stuart England” (in Serpieri and Pugliatti, eds. English Renaissance Scenes: From Canon to Margins, 2008); “The Defence of Religious Orthodoxy in John Heywood’s The Pardoner and the Frere” (The Yearbook of English Studies 2008) and “Performing the Passions: David Garrick and Edmund Kean in King Richard The Third” (Assaph. Studies in the Theatre 2009). She has also written the chapters: “I predecessori di Shakespeare” and “La prosa del ‘500’ for the Manuale di letteratura e cultura inglese (Elam and Crisafulli, eds., 2009).

A full bibliographical record is available on <http://online.unisi.it/anagrafe-ricerca/>